Why choose this course?
Expand your breadth and depth of knowledge in the disciplines of Economics and Finance, over and above your degree by completing a fourth specialist year of Honours.

Overview
The School of Economics and Finance has a strong record of research in economics, finance and econometrics.

An Honours year will substantially enhance proficiency in your chosen discipline and career advancement is more rapid for Honours graduates.

Employers normally consider an Honours degree as the minimum qualification for a professional economist (this is true for both Federal and State Treasuries, the Reserve Bank and many public enterprises). In addition, financial institutions such as the major trading banks and merchant banks employ Honours graduates in finance.

Initial salary rates for Honours graduates are higher than those for ordinary degree graduates and job tasks tend to be more varied, interesting and research orientated.

Possession of an Honours degree is necessary for entrance to and assists in obtaining scholarships and other forms of financial support to undertake higher research degrees (such as the PhD).

The emphasis of the year is on depth of knowledge and small class teaching.

In addition, Honours students are expected to attend and actively participate in the strong seminar series run by the School.

Meeting minimum entry requirements does not guarantee entry into this course. Admission to the Honours program will depend on the availability of supervision, infrastructure and other required resources.

Course design
Students must complete four coursework units (48 credit points) and a dissertation (48 credit points), as per the programs of study described under the individual majors.

Unit prerequisite requirements are deemed to have been satisfied upon admission to this course. Where option (elective) units may be undertaken, students should check prerequisite requirements in the unit synopsis section of the QUT Handbook and obtain approval from the Subject Area Coordinator prior to enrolment.

Prerequisites
Although not compulsory, all QUT Bachelor of Business students who are considering an Honours year are recommended to complete EFB333 Introductory Econometrics as part of their undergraduate degree.
