Overview
Doctoral studies are through the Humanities Research Program and focus on issues of real-world significance. These issues can have broad social ramifications or be important problems that are central to the professions with which the Humanities Research Program are aligned.

Course Structure
Doctoral studies may be completed in any area of research interest supported by the Humanities Research Program. Humanities Research Program Director and other staff are happy to discuss these or any related areas with applicants. Candidates may study full- or part-time. If candidates are full-time and hold an appropriate masters degree, they can submit their thesis or other examinable work after 24 months (36 months for a part-time student). If candidates do not hold a masters degree the period is 30 months for a full-time candidate or 42 months for a part-time candidate.

The research may be completed either by thesis or by publication.
