As part of this course, you can choose a major, or opt to complete the course without a major.

Commercial major: Learn the intricacies of laws directly relevant to business or commercial transactions. Choose from topics that match your career aspirations, such as: banking and finance law, intellectual property, consumer protection, estate planning, corporate insolvency, public law, privacy law, cyber law, privacy law or insurance laws.

Project Management major: Designed specifically for engineers, senior managers, mining executives and contract administrators, our project management major gives you powerful insight into emerging issues within exciting areas such as environmental, natural resources and energy law.

Health Law major: A hospital, clinic, office, gym, or on a sports field - it doesn’t matter where your health job is, if you’re involved in the health industry and want to know more about the laws governing your work place, consider studying health law at QUT. The core units in both the graduate certificate and masters offer an introduction to the common law system and health law ethics. These are critical to understanding the context of health law within the legal system. Navigate health law issues in your workplace and manage legal risk.

No major: For flexibility and to tailor your learning to your interests and career aspirations, you can select from any units on offer to complete the course without a major.

Why choose this course?
Law affects every aspect of our work. But not everyone has a working knowledge of crucial legal issues. If you haven’t studies law before, this course will give you a grounding in the law relevant to your professional practice.

You can tailor your learning to your career and choose from majors in health law, project management or commercial law. Or for more flexibility, choose to complete the course without a specific major.

Apply theory to real-world projects

‘In my role, it is very important to stay current and QUT helped me to do this. I was able to apply the theory I studied to real-world projects I was working on in my business. The teaching staff were amazing and I learnt something different from each of my lecturers and tutors.’
