Career outcomes
Health service managers are responsible for the business of health care. Their skills are used to develop strategies to maximise the efficient and effective delivery of health services in a diverse range of health settings. Health is a global industry and graduates have a range of employment options in both the public and private sector and an opportunity to make an important contribution to the future of health services nationally and internationally. Health services practitioners work as health service or health

David Stewart
Real student

'It's an excellent opportunity to learn from professional leaders who have worked in the field for many years. The practical nature of the health management course means that I'm able to take on board some of the things I have already learned and use them in my current job.'
